A new Miraclean® Griddle for the Newly Restored Historic Columns Hotel in New Orleans!

"Our burger is insane. It's an upscale burger with high quality ingredients," says owner Jayson Seidman, "It passes the burger test: you know a place is good if the burger's good."

Built as a mansion in 1893, an elegant Italianate style building with a grand spiral staircase and large front balcony, truly a beloved institution in New Orleans. Chef Michael Stoltzfus runs the kitchen and bars.

Built around casual foods, the menu includes: roasted oysters dabbed with Swiss chard, butter and a Tabasco mash appetizer; flash-fried speckled trout is moist and flaky, served with cauliflower and a turnip tartar sauce on the side. The emphasis right now is on shareable plates and lighter options.

By the way, the hotel is said to be haunted - if you are feeling brave, ask to stay in room 10...
